All Ye Whom Love or Fortune

John Dowlan

Cantus

Altus

Tenor

Bassus

All ye whom love or fortune hath be trayed, All ye that dream of bliss but live in trayed, be trayed, all ye that dream of bliss hath be trayed, but live in

grief,

All ye whose hopes are ever

but live in
grief,

All ye whose hopes are ever more, ever

grief,

more delayed, — All ye whose sighs, whose are ever more delayed, all ye whose sighs, all ye more delayed, delayed, all ye whose more delayed All ye whose sighs, whose sighs or sickness wants relief: — Lend ears and sighs or sickness wants relief: — Lend ears and sighs or sickness wants relief: — Lend ears and tears to me most hapless tears, Lend ears and tears, lend ears and tears to me, to me, most hapless man, that sings my sorrows, that sings my sorrows, my sorrows like the dying Swan. Lend ears and sorrows, my sorrows like the dying Swan. Lend ears and Lend Swan.

tears Swan.

tears to me most Swan.

tears, Lend Swan.
