Tr. 1. { Rejoice, my friends, the Lord is King, } Let Jacob rise and Zion sing, And all the world with praises ring, And give to Je - sus glo - ry.
C. 2. { O may the Saints of every name } May jars and discord cease to flame. And all the Savior's love proclaim, And give to Je - sus glo - ry.
T. 3. { I long to see the Christians join, } When every church with grace shall shine; And grow in Christ the living vine, And give to Je - sus glo - ry.
B. 4. { On Zion's brilliant mount we'll stand, } With palms of victory in our hand. We'll shout with heaven's triumphant band, And give to Je - sus glo - ry.

5. Come, parents, children, bond and free.
Come will you go to heaven with me,
That glorious land of rest to see,
And shout with me eternally,
And give to Jesus glory.

6. Come who will march to win the prize,
And take the kingdom in the skies?
Where love and union never dies,
But always flows through paradise,
And there we'll give him glory.

7. There all the saints shall join in one,
And sing with Moses round the throne;
There troubles are forever gone,
They'll shine with God's eternal Son.
And there we'll give him glory.

8. Through faith, the telescope, are seen,
Though Jordan's billows roll between,
We soon shall cross the narrow stream
To beauteous fields of living green,
And there we'll give him glory.

9. A few more days of pain and woe,
A few more suffering scenes below
And then to Jesus we shall go,
Where everlasting pleasures flow,
And there we'll give him glory.

10. The rose and lily there shall stand,
In holy bloom at God's right hand :
O how I long for Canaan's land,
Where I may join the heavenly band
And give to Jesus glory.

A folk hymn (Jackson 1952, no. 296; David Music 1983). This tune was included in William Moore's Columbian Harmony (1825), and in Southern Harmony, p. 142 (1835 ff.) in a three-part version. The Hesperian Harp, p. 232 (1848) has a four-part version of the above.
