Translation

Lord, who shall dwell in thy tabernacle, or who shall rest upon thy holy hill ?
Even he that leadeth an uncorrupt life, and doeth the thing which is right, and speaketh the truth from his heart.
He that hath used no deceit in his tongue, nor done evil to his neighbour, and hath not slandered his neighbour.
He that setteth not by himself, but is lowly in his own eyes and maketh much of them that fear the Lord.
He that sweareth unto his neighbour and disappointeth him not, though it were to his own hindrance.
He that hath not given his money upon usury, nor taken reward against the innocent.
Whoso doeth these things shall never fall.

(Psalm 15, Book of Common Prayer)

Editorial Conventions

The nomenclature of the voice-parts follows the Tudor convention.

The prefatory staves at the start of the piece show the original clef, staff signature, mensuration symbol and first note for each voice.

Editorial accidentals are placed above the notes concerned and remain operative throughout the bar.

Ligatures are denoted by the sign

Repeat signs in the underlay have been expanded using italicised text.

Underlay between square brackets is entirely editorial.

The lost Tenor part has been reconstructed by the editor and is printed in small notation.

Notes of the Readings of the Source

This edition is based principally on source A and the underlay and ligatures shown are those of this source. The underlay of the music transmitted in A is often unreliable in that melismas may be replaced with repetitions of text and these edits occasionally include rhythmical alterations. The two Mean parts in B seem to have been altered less than those in A (if at all) and where significant variants occur B’s readings have been preferred. Otherwise the two sources agree in their underlay for these voices. Similar editing must have occurred in the lower voices of A, but since Mundy was capable of making text repeats himself it impossible to be sure which repetitions are his and which are interventions by scribes. Only a very few have been excised in the edition and the only significant rhythmical alteration made is at bars 137–8 where a conjectural restoration of the lost Bass part of B has been made (cf. the readings of Mean 2 in A and B).

Both A and B tend to use underlay repeat signs for the same phrases. Those in A are generally preceded by a syllable or two of text; B gives no such cues. Most of the underlay variants recorded below for B are purely cosmetic ones of this nature without any implications for performance. Where a phrase has more notes than syllables the underlay in A is frequently ambiguous. Although the most significant ambiguities are noted below, no attempt has been made to provide a comprehensive list. A commentary cannot convey the visual impression of the original and risks implying greater certainty than actually exists. To assess the underlay it is best to consult the original sources. Digital images of both A and B are available online at www.diamm.ac.uk.

In each section below the references are listed by source. Each reference to a bar or group of bars is separated by an oblique stroke. Within these references multiple readings in the same voice are separated by a comma and readings in different voices by a semicolon. The order within each entry is: (1) bar number(s); (2) voice; (3) reading of the source (with any subsequent bar numbers in brackets). Pitches are in capital letters, preceded by a number where necessary, e.g. <sup>1</sup>A = first note A in the bar. Pitches quoted are those of the edition. Note values are abbreviated, e.g. dot-q = dotted quaver. The symbol + denotes a tie and  $\gtrless$  an underlay repeat sign.
