Musical score for four voices (Soprano, Alto, Tenor, Bass) singing "Al-le-lu-ia". The score consists of four staves. The top three staves are in treble clef, and the bottom staff is in bass clef. The tempo is marked as 130. The lyrics "Al - le - lu - ia" are repeated across the four staves. Measure lines connect corresponding notes between the voices. Brackets above the Alto and Tenor staves group their entries together.

Translation

Christ rising from the dead dieth no more; death hath no more dominion over him: for in that he liveth, he liveth unto God. Alleluia, Alleluia.

℣. Now let the Jews declare how the soldiers guarding the sepulchre lost the king with the stone in place, wherefore they kept not the rock of righteousness; let them either produce him buried, or adore him risen, saying with us;

Alleluia, Alleluia.

Liturgical Function

In the pre-Reformation Use of Salisbury Christus resurgens was a processional antiphon sung on many occasions during Eastertide. The verse Dicant nunc Judaei was sung by the full choir, as in Knight's setting, only on Easter morning at the opening of the sepulchre before Matins, at the end of the procession before Mass on that day and during the processions before Mass on the first Sunday after Easter and the Sunday before the Feast of the Ascension.

Editorial Conventions

The nomenclature of the voice-parts follows the Tudor convention.

The original clef, staff signature, mensuration symbol and first note of each part are shown on the prefatory staves.

Editorial accidentals are placed above the notes concerned and remain operative throughout the bar. Accidentals not present individually in the source but implied by the original staff signatures are placed before the note and have a superscript dot.

Ligatures are denoted by the sign , coloration (see below) by the sign .

Spelling of the text has been modernised.

Underlay between square brackets is entirely editorial.

Notes on the Readings of the Sources

As with certain other compositions in the source, some of the ligatures and breves are colored. The reason for this is unclear since coloration has no notational significance in duple time. It is nevertheless shown in the edition.

The underlay of the Tenor part has been adjusted to match that of the chant in the processional, but not at the expense of the ligature structure.

In the notes below, each reference to a bar or group of bars is separated by an oblique stroke. Within these references multiple readings in the same voice are separated by commas and readings in different voices by semicolons. The order within each entry is: 1) bar number; 2) voice; 3) reading of the source. For extended references subsequent bar numbers are in brackets. The references are to the transposed pitch of the edition. Pitches are in capital letters, preceded by a number where necessary, e.g. ²D = second note D in the bar. The sign denotes an underlay repetition sign.

Staff Signatures and Accidentals

3–4 Ct1 mortuis undivided below G+GFED / 5 Ct1 new line without staff signature begins with ²D / 13 Ct2 indicated by letter f / 20 B no for E / 30 Ct1 # for G before rest (perhaps an uncancelled error), for B before G / 33 Ct1 indicated by letter c / 40 Ct2 the surprising augmented second can hardly be an oversight and is assumed to be intentional (both accidentals are clear in the source) / 43 B for B / 61 Ct1 for B at start of section, (67) new line without staff signature begins with ²D / 78 Ct1 for E before D, new line with staff signature one (=E in transcription) begins with F / 82 B indicated by letter f / 83 Ct1 new line without staff signature begins with E / 98 Ct1 indicated by letter f / 109 Ct2 for B indicated by letter f / 115 Ct2 for E at end of line after ¹D and again before E at start of new line /
