

Keene

Transcribed from The Evangelical Harmony, 1800.

1. Since I have placed my trust ___ in God, A re - fuge al - ways nigh, Why should I, like a tim - orous
2. Behold, the wicked bend ___ their bow, And rea - dy fix their dart, Lurk - ing in ambush, to de -

3. When once the firm as - sur - ance fails, Which public faith imparts, 'Tis time for in - no - cence to
4. The Lord hath both a tem - ple here, And righteous throne above: Whence he sur - veys the sons of

5. If God the righteous, whom he loves, For tri - al does correct, What must ___ the sons of vi - o -
6. Snares, fire, and brimstone on their heads Shall in one tempest shower; This dread - ful mixture, his re -

7. The righteous Lord will righteous deeds With fi - nal fa - vor grace; And to the upright man dis -

1. bird, To dis - tant mountains fly? Why
2. -stroy The man of up - right heart. Lurk -

3. fly ___ From such de - ceit - ful arts. 'Tis
4. men, And how their coun - sels move. Whence

5. -lence, whom he ab - hors, expect? What
6. -venge, In - to their cup shall pour. This

7. -close The bright - ness of his face. And