

Charles Wesley, 1749

Hymns and Sacred Poems, Vol. 1, no. 7

886. 886.

Assiduity

Transcribed from The Massachusetts Harmony, 1803.

A minor

Abijah Forbush, 1803

1. Be this my one great business here, With seri - ous in - dus - try, and fear, My future bliss t'en-sure. Thine
 2. Then Sav - ior, then my soul re-ceive, Trans-por - ted from the vale, to live, And reign with thee above, Where utmost counsel to fulfil, Thine utmost counsel to fulfil, And suffer all thy righteous will, And to the end en - dure.

 faith is sweetly lost in sight, Where faith is sweetly lost in sight, And hope in full supreme delight, And ev - er - las - ting love.

Thine utmost counsel to fulfil, And suffer all thy righteous will, And to the end en - dure.
 Where faith is sweetly lost in sight, And hope in full supreme delight, And ev - er - las - ting love.

utmost counsel to fulfil, Thine utmost counsel to fulfil, And suffer all thy righteous will, And to the end en - dure.
 faith is sweetly lost in sight, Where faith is sweetly lost in sight, And hope in full supreme delight, And ev - er - las - ting love.

Thine
Where