1. O God, unseen yet ever near, thy presence may we feel;
2. Here may thy faithful people know the blessings of thy love,
3. We come, obedient to thy word, to feast on heav'nly food;
4. Thus may we all thy word obey, for we, O God, are thine;

and, thus inspired with holy fear, before thine altar kneel.
the streams that through the desert flow, the manna from above.
our meat the body of the Lord, our drink his precious blood.
and go rejoicing on our way, renewed with strength divine.

This edition produced by Andrew Sims, 2020