Translation

In the midst of life we are in death: of whom may we seek for succour, but of thee, O Lord, who for our sins art justly displeased? Yet, O Lord God most holy, O Lord most mighty, O holy and most merciful Saviour, deliver us not into the bitter pains of eternal death.

Lord, now lettest thou thy servant depart in peace according to thy word.

For mine eyes have seen thy salvation.

Which thou hast prepared before the face of all people.

To be a light to lighten the Gentiles and to be the glory of thy people Israel.

Glory be to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Ghost:

As it was in the beginning, is now and ever shall be, world without end. Amen.

✠ Cast us not away in our old age when our strength faileth, neither forsake us, O Lord,<sup>1</sup>

O God most holy.

✠ Shut not thy merciful ears to our prayer,

O Lord most mighty.

✠ Thou knowest, Lord, the secrets of our hearts; pardon our sins.

O holy and most merciful Saviour, deliver us not into the bitter pains of eternal death.

(All except verse 1 from the Book of Common Prayer)

Editorial Conventions

The nomenclature of the voice-parts follows the Tudor convention.

The prefatory staves at the start of the piece show the original clef, mensuration symbol and first note for each voice; the piece needed no staff signature.

Editorial accidentals are placed above the notes concerned.

Ligatures are denoted by the sign  $\lrcorner$ .

Repeat signs in the underlay have been expanded using italicised text.

Underlay between square brackets is entirely editorial.

The lost Tenor part has been restored editorially (see below) and is printed in small notation.

A Note on the Music

In the pre-reformation Sarum Rite, Media vita was the Nunc dimittis antiphon at Compline from the third Sunday in Lent to Passion Sunday. The three verses included in Sheppard's setting were sung on the Saturdays, Sundays and feasts of nine lessons within this period.

Sheppard composed his setting around the proper plainsong which he placed in the Tenor. The Tenor partbook from the Christ Church manuscripts has long been lost and the chant is restored here from the printed Sarum antiphonal of 1519.<sup>2</sup> Sheppard's verses are free-composed, although verses 1 and 3 paraphrase the beginning of the chant. It is highly unlikely that a Tenor part needs to be reconstructed for the first two verses. Although a four-part male ensemble of Ct Ct T B was a commonplace texture in Tudor music it appears not to be appropriate here. It is impossible to construct such a part that treats the points of imitation persuasively, even allowing for Sheppard's typically flexible approach to imitation, and his texture is perfectly complete in three parts.

The Sarum liturgical books give no information about how the Nunc dimittis was chanted. That the two sides of the choir alternated with every half verse is suggested by the treatment of the canticle in the polyphonic settings of The Purification antiphon Lumen ad revelationem by Thomas Packe in London, British Library, Add. MS 5665, f.62<sup>v</sup> and by an anonymous composer in Cambridge, Magdalene College, Pepys MS 1236, f.55<sup>v</sup>, in both of which the second half of every verse of the canticle is set in polyphony. The matter is uncertain, however, since Lumen ad
